

Model/Prototype Manufacturing Companies and Private Model Makers

Who we are

Terence Jets is a privately-owned innovative Australian aerospace start-up company that has conducted the design work for the UltraJet™1672A (UJ1672A) and the air racing safety infrastructure and developed a unique air racing format. Terence Jets is currently exploring and pursuing opportunities in the business commercial world to exploit the potential of the UJ1672A in the motorsport of air racing and other potential markets including Private Aviation and Defence.

Terence Jets is located in Sydney, Australia and was established in 2017 by Terry Burton, an aerospace engineer and the Company's Director.

The Opportunity

Terence Jets has an exciting opportunity for Model/Prototype Manufacturing Companies and Private Model Makers to manufacture a display model of the UltraJet™1672A and its powerplant, the TB300. This displays models will be used at exhibitions, tradeshows and conferences throughout the world to promote our business and in private consultations with selected high-net-worth individuals and large corporations.

The UltraJet™1672A is a very innovative aircraft design with a unique configuration and we envisage the following methods of manufacture*:

- 3D printing in plastic or equivalent materials
- CNC machining in plastic, foam, mild steel and wood
- Fibreglass composite construction
- Hand craftsmanship

* = Other methods of manufacture will be given consideration and will be discussed during the consultation process.

Requirements

Small to medium sized model/prototype manufacturing companies and private model makers.

Terms of engagement

This is a Sponsorship or equivalent arrangement by the selected model/prototype manufacturing companies and the private model makers. The UltraJet™1672A is a very innovative aircraft design with a unique configuration. Exhibition of the display model at exhibitions, tradeshows and conferences throughout the world will generate large scale publicity. The model/prototype companies and private model makers will be able to use this publicity for promotion of their own products and services.

Full details will be discussed during the consultation process.
